PASTORS TO ATTEND MINISTER'S COUNCIL

Pastor Rufus B. McDannel of the Appomattox Seventh-day Adventist Church will be attending a Minister's Council in New Market, Va. January 10-13. He will be joining eighty ministers and Bible Instructors of Potomac Conference of Seventh-day Adventists to study and plan programs for 1971. The council will be held on campus of Shenandoah Valley Academy.
Potomac Conference President Fenton E. Froom, Sr. from Staunton, Va. is coordinator of the four-day council. Featured speaker will be Donald W. Hunter of Washington, D.C. Pastor Hunter is associate secretary of the General Conference of Adventists. He will give the Keynote address on Sunday night.
Part of the council program will be workshops. Pastor McDannel will join fellow ministers in studying plans for making the Laymen's Year in 1971 an effective involvement of all church members. Involving the youth of the church is high on the priority list of plans for 1971. Effective evangelism plans for ministers and churches will be a topic of study in the workshops.

Press Secretary,
Mrs. Annie R.Fore

Hoping For More Snow

Several of these first graders are holding small snowballs just outside Appomatox Primary School as snow continued to melt fast Monday morning. They're hoping for more of that white stuff which made Christmas – New Year's vacation so much fun! The snowballs were made just for the picture – not a one hit the photog! Pupils include Terry Dillard, Norman Fleshman, Patience Mosley, Cynthia Mayberry, Jacquetta Booker, Wendy Gagneur, Angela Pugh, Lora L. Bell, Kimberly Chenault, Christopher Dunnam, Gloria Ferguson, Robert Coleman, Terri Robinson, Rhonda McCormick, Angela Moore, Patricia Thayer, Cindy McCormick, Lewis Ayers, Tamara White, Thomas Drewry, Gergory Riley and Michael Hipps.

Provisions Of Feed Grain Set-Aside Program Listed

"The most important aspect of the 1971 Feed Grain Set-Aside Program is that it provides farmers much more freedom than previous programs have in deciding the kind and amount of grains and other crops they want to produce on their farms. At the same time, it is designed to put a greater reliance on the marketplace as the principal source of farm income while ensuring equitable returns to growers and sufficient feed grain production for domestic and export needs," according to J. P. Alvis, Jr., Chairman of the Appomattox County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

"For example, the feed grain base for a farm will be used only to determine acreage set-aside and price-support payment. The feed grain base does not restrict a producer to a set number of acres of feed grains nor does it indicate to him what crop or crops he must or should plant," Mr. Alvis said.

The general outline of the new feed grain program has already been announced, he said, and all information on all provisions are expected before March 1, when program signup begins.

The ASC Committee Chairman provided this summary of the 1971 Feed Grain Set-Aside Program provisions to date:

Sign-up period will be March 1 through April 9 at County ASCS Offices. The program is voluntary and open to producers with farms having corn or grain sorghum bases. Barley will not be included in the 1971 program. Farm feed grain bases will remain substantially the same as for 1970 except that barley base acreages will be subtracted from 1970 total feed grain bases.

A producer may sign up one or more farms in which he has an interest and not sign up others, as he chooses.

When a producer signs up, he agrees to set aside an acreage to be put in conserving uses, he also agrees to maintain the farm's conserving base. The set-aside percentage has been tentatively set at 20% for planning purposes by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, with the final set-aside percentage to be announced before signup begins.

By participating in the program, a producer becomes eligible for price-support payment on one-half his feed grain base and price-support loan on all his feed grain production.

It is not necessary that he produce feed grain in order to earn a payment. However, if less than 45 percent of his feed grain base is planted to feed grains, his farm's 1972 base will be reduced by the amount of the under-planting, up to 20% of the base. If he plants no feed grains or authorized substitute crops for three successive years, the feed grain base could be removed.

Payments to producers participating in the 1971 feed Grain Set-Aside Program will be determined on the basis of the 1971 farm yield for payment purposes multiplied by one-half the feed grain base. If the required set-aside is determined to be 20 percent, a preliminary payment rate of 32 cents a bushel for corn and 29 cents a bushel (52 cents a hundredweight) for grain sorghum will be made. If the required set-aside is less than 20 percent, the preliminary payment will be reduced proportionately.

Substitution will be allowed for wheat and feed grains. That is, acreage planted to wheat (above a farm's wheat allotment) will be considered planted to feed grains for feed grain base history purposes. A producer with a feed grain base and a wheat allotment can plant his eligible cropland acreage to wheat, corn, or grain sorghum without loss of history, and will receive both wheat certificates and feed grain payments. He must meet the set-aside requirements for both programs and maintain his farm's conserving base, as well as sign up for both programs.

FIRST BAPTIST

Last Sunday during Sunday School at First Baptist Church in Appomattox, deacon Julian Hamlet received a lovely gift from the children who attend Sunday School there. The gift was presented by Mrs. Ella Mae Preston, a member of First Baptist, Deacon Hamlet, before his illness during the summer, drove children to church in his truck. Since then some of the children were unable to attend regularly but pray that Deacon Hamlet has a successful recovery and the little ones will be able to return to Sunday School.

Mrs. T. W. Hamlet expressed joy Sunday morning when she saw such a large number of pupils making their way to Sunday School through the snow for their first Sunday of the new year.

One mother enrolled along with her three daughters, a son; 2 neices and a nephew.

Farm Credit Reduces Interest Rate

J. F. Glenn, Manager of the Farm Credit Office of Farmville announces that the interest rate on loans made by the Farmville Production Credit Association will be reduced to 7 1/2% effective January 1, 1971. Present loans bearing an 8% rate will also receive the benefit of this reduction in rate as of Jan. 1, 1971.

Mr. Glenn also states that the interest rate on new loans made by the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore will be reduced to 8% effective Jan.1, 1971 and effective Feb. 16, 1971 interest on loans written at 9% will be billed at the new 8% rate. On several previous occasions during its 53 year history the Land Bank has billed borrowers at an interest rate below that contained in the original contract.

Loans made at the new rate will be on a variable contract under which the rate of interest charged may be adjusted during the life of the loan if changes in the cost of money so warrant.

The Farm Credit Office of Farmville is a major source of credit to farmers in Amelia, Nottoway, Cumberland, Prince Edward, Charlotte, Buckingham, Appomattox, Amherst, and Campbell counties. At the present time the Farmville office and the Lynchburg branch office service a loan volume in excess of $12,000,000.

Poem & Author Given Compliment

Mrs. J. B. Rothgeb says that if the author of the poem published last week by the Times-Virginian is the same Virginia Rothgeb who was a nurse at Virginia Baptist Hospital, she certainly reflects her fine character as a nurse.

Mrs. Rothgeb says that Virginia Rothgeb (perhaps a distant relative of the Rothgeb family here) was a nurse during the hospitalization of both her sons, Wayne and Edward Lee. Upon reading the poem, 'How To Make A House A Home" Mrs. Rothgeb concluded that the poet may be the same person. The nurse, she says, was highly thought of by the Rothgeb boys.

The poem was submitted from the publication, "The Inner Light" by Mrs. Marvin Glover, county librarian, who says she brought it to the paper for publication because it seemed so fitting for the holidays.

Mrs. Childers Has 19 Great-Grandchildren
